Only through the help, patience, and understanding of the G.J.H.S. faculty, administration, parents, and Mr. Frank Oman would this yearbook have been completed. The Jr. Aerie Staff would like to extend a special thanks to these people for enabling us to achieve our goal. An extra thanks to Mrs. Lenhoff for letting us use and abuse her classroom and Gray McCord for the artwork he designed for the division pages and eighth grade survey.

Take It To The Limit 1

LET ME HAVE SOME: Nick Gomez negotiates to get some of David Jolly's sunflower seeds as Terry Meadows watches on. Deals like this happen often after school when students eat all the food they had in their lunch.

NO LIMITS: Leeann Gattis and Dana Sooter battle for possession of a cutting board which was made in woodshop. This is one of the more popular electives this year.

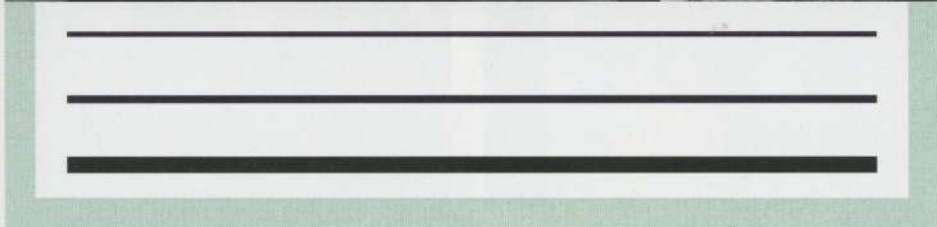

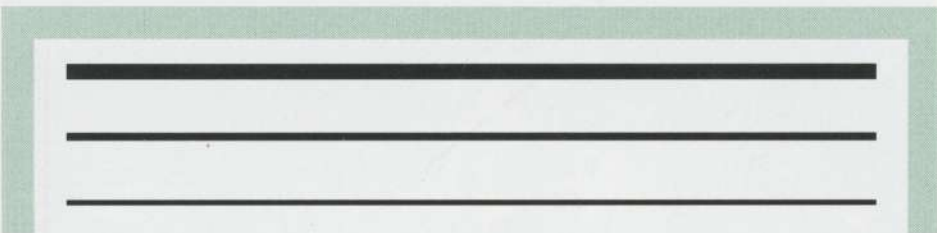

PIG OUT: Josh Snow quickly eats before lunch is dismissed. Thirty minutes never seems like enough time to finish eating.

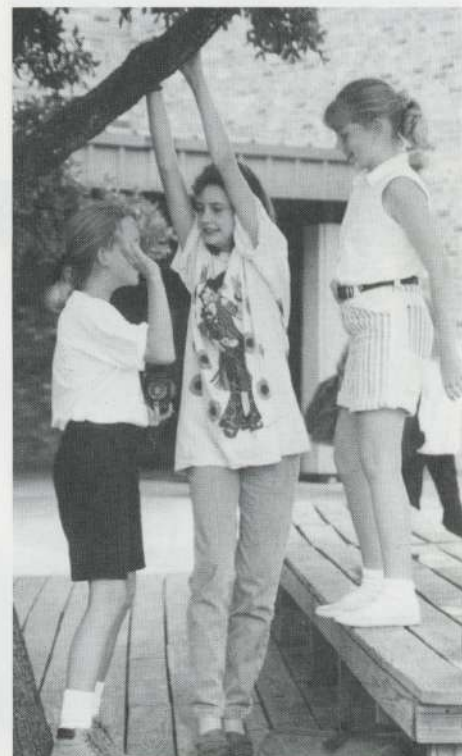

SAY WHAT? A group of students discuss various things with Mr. Rhodes, while they await the first period bell to ring. Talking with friends is one of the many things students do to pass the time.

PATTY CAKE, PATTY CAKE: Lisa Allgood, Tasha Herman, Katie Lake, Suzanna Medina, Crystal Torrez, Carisse Depew, and Tina Avent fool around before school. Everyone enjoys the morning and takes advantage of it the best they can.

FRIENDS FOREVER: Jacob Lester and Jason Flanagan joke around after B-lunch. Friends enjoy talking and messing around before the bell.

LISTEN CLOSELY: Tara Lawley, Deah Breithaupt, and Amanda Lyda listen in after school as Kari Schneider relates some juicy tidbits while they wait for their Bus, 62.

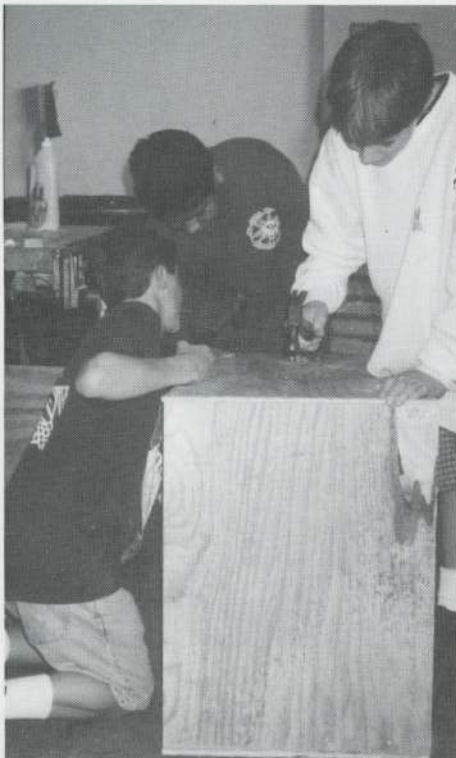

CONCENTRATE! Michael Pavlovich works hard to make the yearbook a success as he works on his yearbook layout for basketball the very first week.

LET ME SEE THAT ... Mayra Gonzales and Christina Hurtado compare notes before school. Students often use this time to finish homework or just fool around. Others might choose to come before 8:35 in the morning to meet with a teacher as well. However, if a student needs to meet with a teacher before the 8:15 bell, he must receive a special pass before hand to be allowed inside the building, no matter what his excuse is.

WHATSSUP? Natalie Shimek, Ellen Hubby, Laura Carr, and Allison Bergmann, not ready for the bell, discuss matters before school begins.

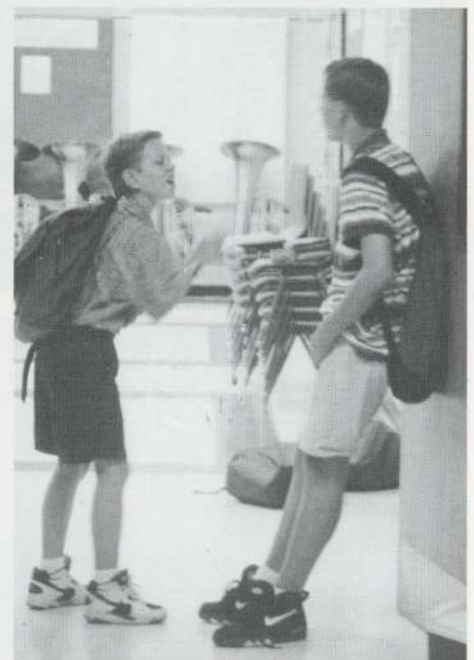

IT'S HAMMER TIME! Will Masterson, Roberto Macias, and Cody Henson construct their project in Woodshop.

New Limits It's As Good As It Gets

After some students' stomachs growl through students' morning classes, students are relieved when it comes time for their lunch. Lunchtime serves the need to talk, laugh, rest from classes and lectures, and eat. Students either bring sack lunches, lunch kits, or buy a lunch from the long line of the cafeteria. Occasionally concession stands offer the option of pizza and soft drinks. Many students also try hard to remember to bring 50 cents to school on ice cream concession days. The regular flavors are Eskimo Pie, Rainbow Freeze, Nutty Buddy, Ice Cream Sandwich, and Orange Dreamsicle. When it is time to buy, all who have brought money dash to the stand to avoid long waits. If students "misuse their privileges" and don't clean up after lunchtime, they may be destined to assigned seating, widely unfavorable to those under that restriction. The conveniences of Coke machines can be revoked as well. Otherwise, a considerable number of students make use of the Coke machines everyday. Lunchtime lasts for about thirty minutes, except on the last day of each a six weeks.

WHY YOU LITTLE. Jamie Lind sneers at Derek Woodley, as Derek Woodley protests, in front of the G.J.H.S. Band Hall.

"SMOKE ON THE WATER A FIRE IN THE SKY": Deah Breithaupt, Krystal Corby, and Britainie Gary practice their musical skills at a Varsity pep-rally for the High School football team. Other junior musicians trumpet full blast. They have labored hard for these few minutes, and put their work to good use.

HA, HA, HA! Paul German and David Mann joke around while eating their lunch. Lunch time serves many needs.

Pump Up The Spirit!

Pep Rallies

The pep rallies at GJHS are filled with spirit. The battle cry echoes across the campus as students cry: "For V-I-C-T-O-R-Y, that's the Eagle battle cry!" The cheerleaders work hard.

They practice pyramids and dances too. The drill team also works hard. Students enjoy pep rallies. "A pep rally is an awesome time to express spirit," Jessica Webernick states as an opinion of the student body.

SPIRIT SHOWS! 7th graders clap and yell for the cheerleaders and the other performers during one of their first pep rallies. It was big change for this year's seventh graders coming to the Junior High.

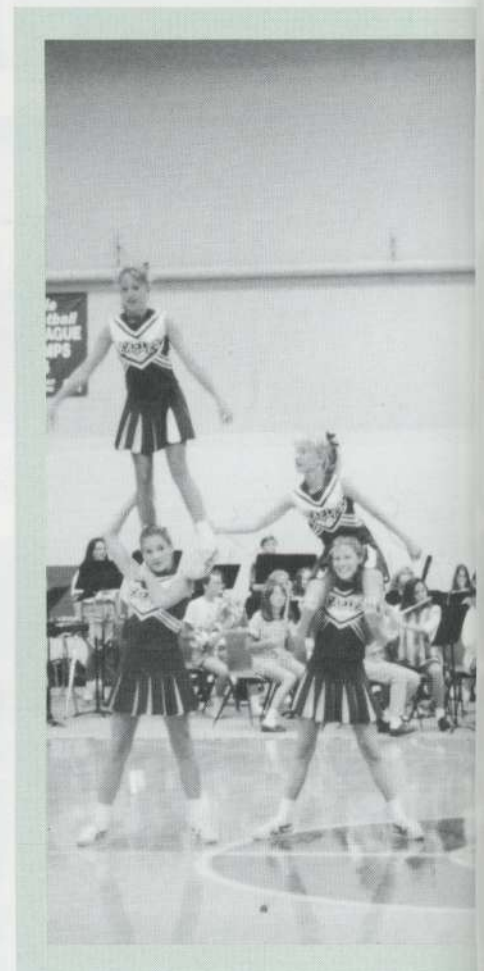

"YELL IT GJH!" The eighth grade cheerleaders scream, pepping up the crowd. Pep rallies are the vocal point of any pep rally day schedule, and they help encourage GJHS athletes to soar to success.

FIGHT! The Fight Song is a favorite among the students. This is one of the times in a pep rally where the band accompanies the cheerleaders in a routine that everyone gets into.

A LITTLE LOUDER PLEASE! Students like Holly Barnes, Valarie Freeman, and Katie Pershbach yell at their friends in an attempt to communicate with each other during the ruckus of a pep rally.

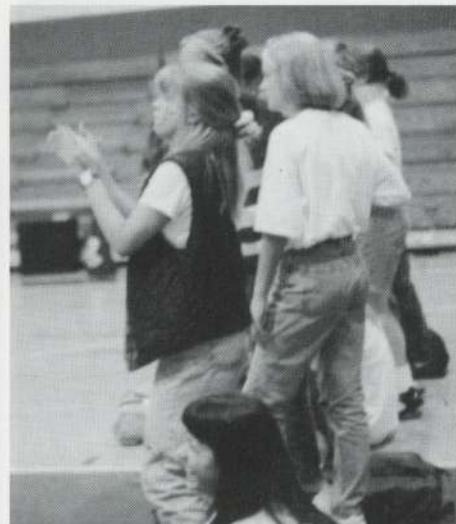

PICTURE PERFECT: The eighth grade cheerleaders show their towering pyramid. They work hard to perfect every detail of their performances which takes dedication, hard work, and many after school hours.

KEEP IT UP! Honors band students such as Aaron James, Brian David, Krystel Corby, and Adam Rogers work as hard as possible to try and make their songs sound great and have a perfect rhythm. The band is not only playing for the students but also for the cheerleaders and other performers.

WILD THING! Marie Kirk, Sara Zedlitz, and Amanda Armstrong do some unusual moves at a pep rally for the football team. During pep rallies, students let loose and go crazy as they show their Eagle spirit.

GO CHEERLEADERS! Stephanie Foster, Rebecca Robbins, and the other volleyball players clap for the cheerleaders as they warm-up for an eighth grade pep rally.

AFRAID OF HEIGHTS? Jessie Trofe, an Susan St. Clair, two of the cheerleaders, perform a two person pyramid that is not only daring but graceful as well.

BLUE AND WHITE FOREVER! Rebecca Riske, Kelly Hanner, Rebecca Britain, Ashley Maxey, and their friends pinky sway to the school song, a favorite among the students.

ZOUNDS! Mandy Williamson sports some vivid headwear while going through her locker. More students participate in "Shade Out Drugs" day than any other "Red Hot Against Drugs" theme days.

WORKING THEMSELVES TO THE LIMIT: Algebra I students Zachary Cardwell, Matt Ross, Cameron Davies, Shannon Ryder, and Ryan Coker are hard at work in Mrs. Davidson's class. Some students, such as Ryan Coker, go beyond the normal effort to "Shade Out Drugs." However, most participants, such as Matt Ross, Cameron Davies, and Shannon Ryder simply enjoy the change.

MADE IN THE SHADE! Football coach and yearbook advisor Mr. Garza goes all out for Shade Out Drugs day. Several of the teachers show that Red Hot Against Drugs week is not just for students.

OPPOSITE DAY! Victoria Calles waits patiently while taking full advantage of Don't Let Drugs Hold You Back day, a day full of extraordinary surprises and exciting moments.

PICK ME! Mr. Michalik's tutorial pauses to choose a winner for the Halloween costume contest. Alicia Smedley, Brandon Moore, Alicia Field, and Lora Bullock await. Halloween is big in Red Hot Against Drugs.

At GJHS, Drugs Are Always

Off Limits

THERE'S ALWAYS LUNCH! Alice Kemper, Lisa Allgood, Ashley Hoyt, and Courtney Bunte have a laugh in Shade Out Drugs. This day is the one with most student participation. The rest get great responses, too.

In late October, the week before Halloween, GJHS holds its annual Red Ribbon Week, the week that students show how drug-free their school is. This is a week in which participating students dress according to the day's theme, along with red ribbons that display the fact that they are drug-free. These themes are as follows: Monday is "Give Drugs the Blues" day, where students wear denim or otherwise blue clothing; Tuesday is "Shade Out Drugs" day, the only day of the year students can wear hats and sunglasses; Wednesday is Red Hot Day, where students wear red clothing; Thursday is "Don't Let Drugs Hold You Back" day, the only day of the year students can wear their clothes backwards; and Friday is "Declare War on Drugs" day, where students wear camouflage. On Monday, October 31, students can wear their Halloween costume, as long as they are appropriate, tasteful, and do not violate the dress code. This week is a welcome change for students, as they can express themselves freely and show they are drug-free at the same time.

WHERE IS HE? Jason Bizzell stands nearly invisible in his attire on Declare War on Drugs day, when participants wore as much camouflage as possible, even backpacks.

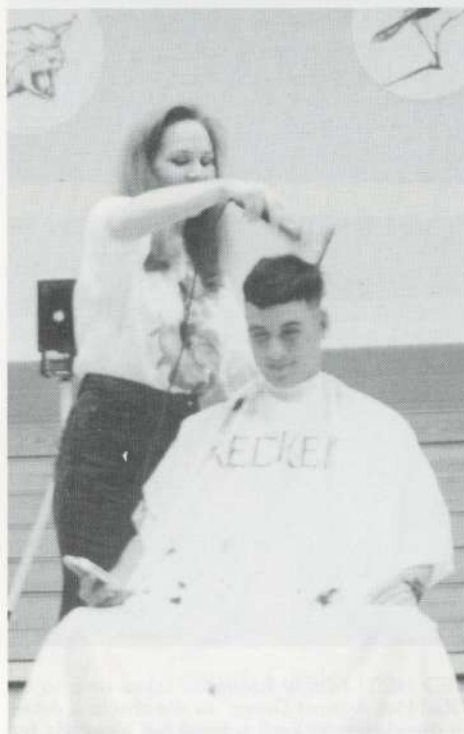

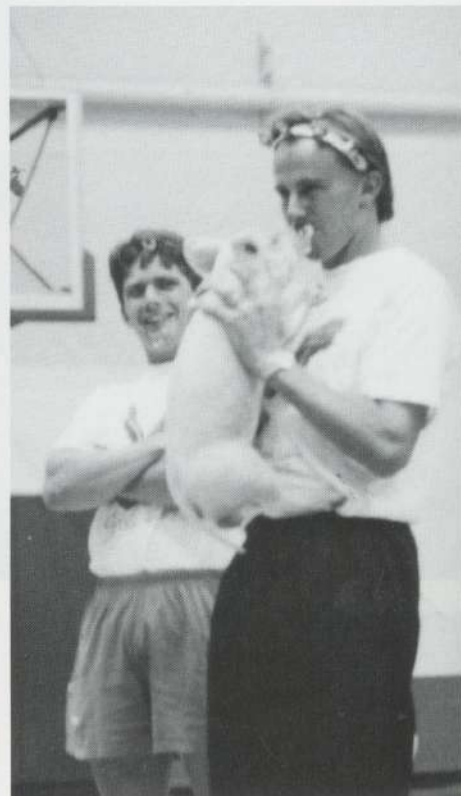

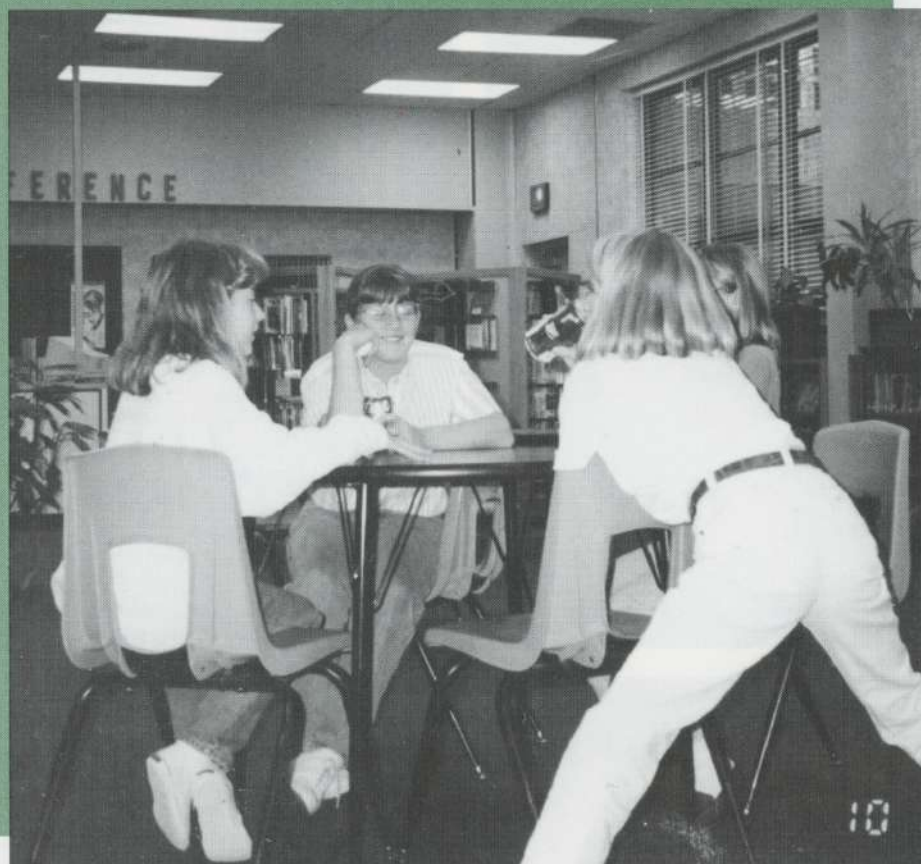

RED HOT! Mindy Robinson takes time to be "Red Hot Against Drugs" as she checks a detail in the yearbook. Each tutorial has a contest for who is the most "Red Hot" and the winner wins a Big Red.

Theme Days 9

Magazine Sales

BOTTOM'S UP: Jennifer Carlson, Randa Schneider, and Kira Hamman talk during the weepul party, which students who sold three or more magazines were invited.

PUCKER UP: Coach Asburn kisses a pig during the magazine sale assembly, while Coach Canfield patiently awaits his turn.

JUST A LITTLE OFF THE TOP: Mr. Garza holds still as a barber shaves his head. This is just one of the many rewards for the magazine sales.

NO LIMITS: Mr. Cantu asks Beau Embree, the top boy seller, if he would like the money in the envelope rather than shaving Mr. Garza's head. He chose the money and received ten dollars.

LIMITLESS POSSIBILITIES: A group of students sit on a stone statue named The Great Awakening in Gettysburg National Park.

TEN HUT: A group of friends watch the changing of the guard at the Arlington National Cemetery. This is just one of the many activities on the trip.

THE WALL: Travis Frank, Megan Shepherd, Misty Shipman, and Mrs. Goodman watch as an employee of the Vietnam Memorial makes a rubbing for them.

ARE WE HAVING FUN YET? Brett Dehm takes time out from the busy day to admire the sights at Gettysburg National Park.

Taking Over Washington Trip

For the eleventh year in a row, Mrs. Meridith along with American Student Travel has hosted the summer trip to Washington D.C. This trip allows students from G.J.H.S. to experience american history. The students who attend this trip get to see many sights including: the Washington Memorial, Holocaust Museum, Vietnam

Memorial, Whitehouse, Mint, Gettysburg, and many more. The trip has always been popular with the students. Each year the most of the fifty slots are filled. This year, Mrs. Meridith will again take a group on this five day four night trip. Most look forward to the trip this summer and for many years to come.

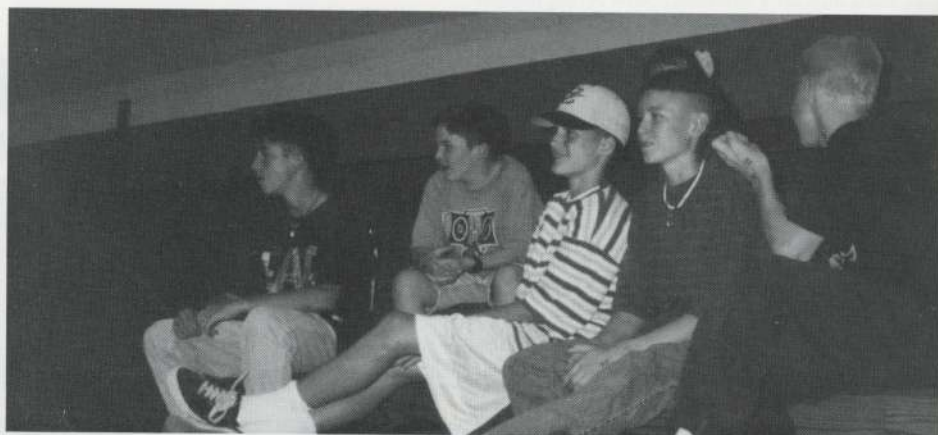

TAKING THEIR TIME, Students on the 1994 Washington D.C. listen to the guide as they tour on one of their side trips. This was a very educational experience that all students would love to do again.

PEEK A BOO! Allan Thompson looks around the pillars after school on the south wing of the building.

EAGLE BALANCE: Susan Gunn and Ellen Hubby compare answers while Laura Carr and Misty Hubenthal talk about the day's events. These students show that Georgetown really does have an academic and sports balance.

SPIRIT TO THE LIMIT! James Murdock, Ben Durham, Steven Anderson, Josh Tucker, and Morgan Handley show their enthusiasm at one of the Lady Eagle Junior High volleyball games. Players enjoy the support!

TAKING THE GRADE Academics

FEEL THE BURN! Adam Gawarecki uses a drill press to punch holes in his soon to be bench. Woodshop gives students the chance to make many things ranging from spice shelves to rocking horses.

SLAM IT! Mandy Cemper aces in her match during tennis. Many students chose tennis as their athletic.

PEP IT UP! David Andrews practices on his tuba during the second pep rally. Honors band usually performs. This time they will play "Smoke on the Water," a popular tune with the student body.

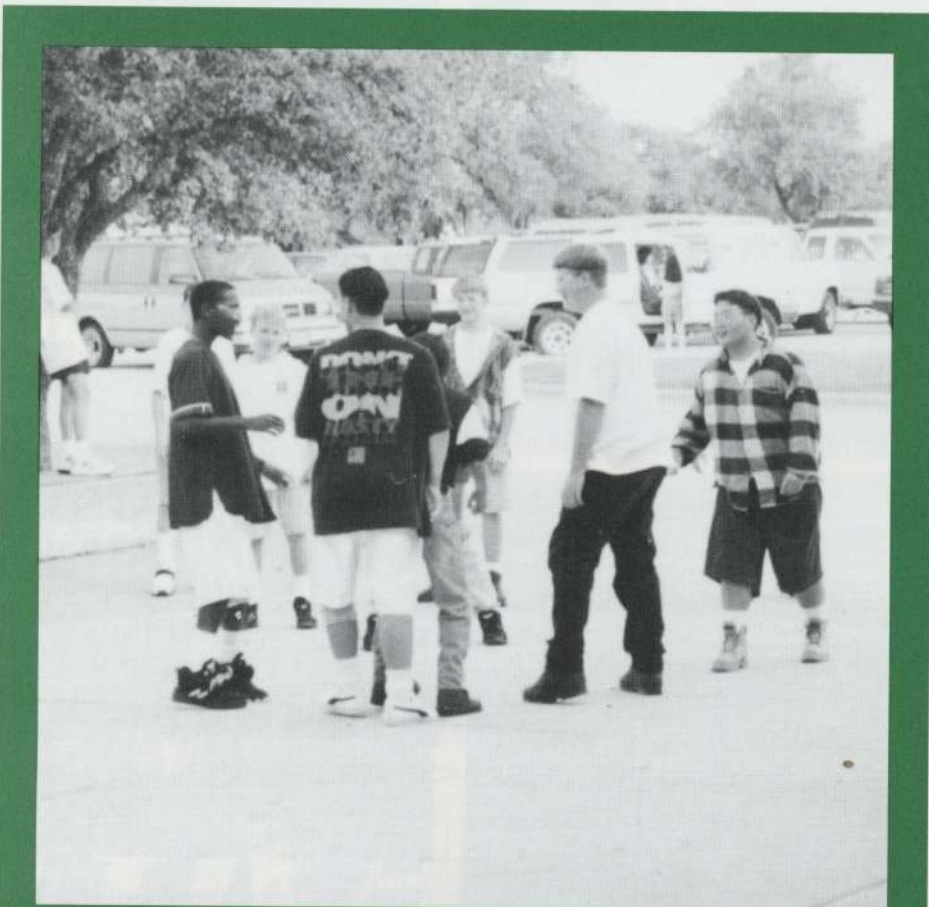

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION: Allison Bergman and Kaleb Griggan listen intently to Mrs. Park's discussion about the movie they are about to see. This year many teachers and students enjoy the use of visual aids.

No Limit To Eighth Grade

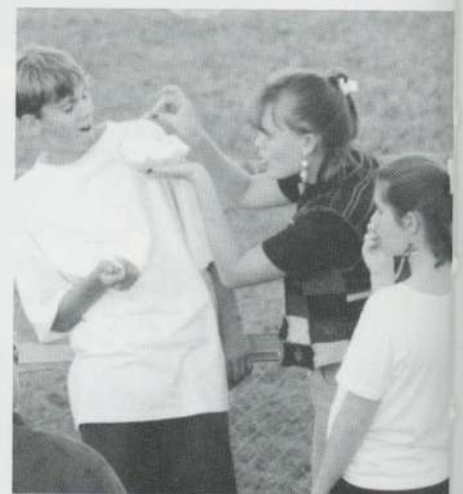

The eighth grade students of GJHS are ready to move on. The class of 1999 is breaking all the limits. The knowledge obtained at GJHS will prove invaluable as Eagles soar into life.

NAME THAT TUNE: Jesse Todd moves to a beat he can't get out of his head, not unusual at GJHS

OUR TIME IS LIMITED: Students stand in front of the gym while waiting for bus number three.

WHO'S BALL IS IT? After school, this group of eighth grade guys including James Carranco, David Carter, Nathan Bishop, and Kent Cho, decide to play football while they wait for a school bus or a parent to take them home.

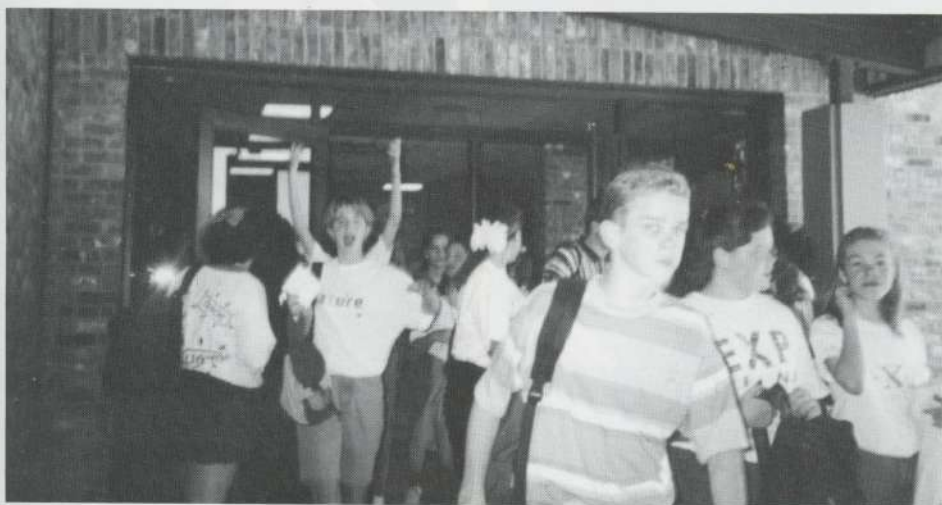

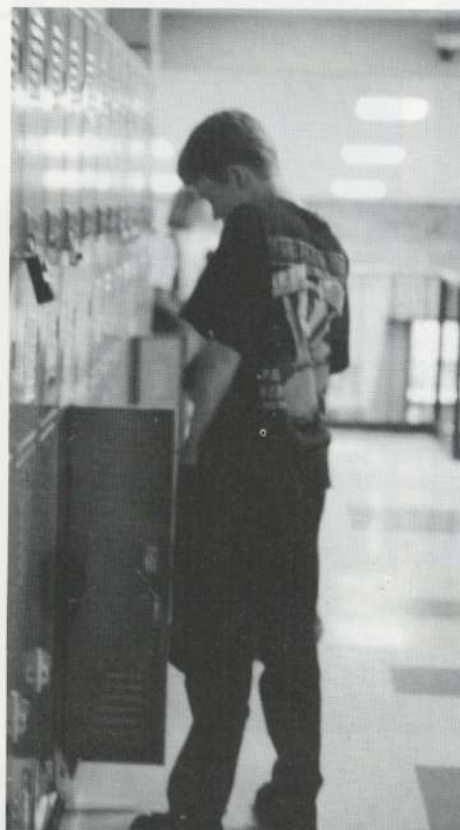

MAKING THE DEADLINE: The GJHS yearbook staff is hard at work to get the yearbook ready for the deadline in January.

OPEN WIDE! Marie Kirk feeds Chad Farris at the football game, while Candice Gholson watches.

THE NEXT KARATE KID? Stephanie Foster tells James Murdock to not make her angry. After lunch many of the students at junior high always find time in their busy day to horse around.

TAKING THE RIGHT BOOKS: Brady Whiteaker looks in his locker for the book he needs next period.

HANGIN' AND CHILLIN': A group of eighth graders talk and watch at the eighth grade football game.

FREEDOM! Many eighth graders are thrilled to finally get out of the gym after one pep-rally.

THE WILD SIDE: The eighth grade football teams visit Pickett Elementary to show them spirit, at a special pep-rally held by the high school football team.

Take The Future To The Limit Limited Finale

On opening night for the drama class, the class's hard work paid off for their play, Little Women. The cast for Little Women included: Elizabeth Parrot as "Jo," Caroline Sweet as "Meg," Audrey Malone as "Amy," and Katherine Perschbach as "Beth." Other "people in the characters lives" included Shannon Ryder, William Russell, Brandon Raney, Ryan Chapman, and April Poulom. The production crew: Lindsey Hoffman, Paige Hagler, Ryan Chapman, Josh Gurley, and Shanna Schuch.

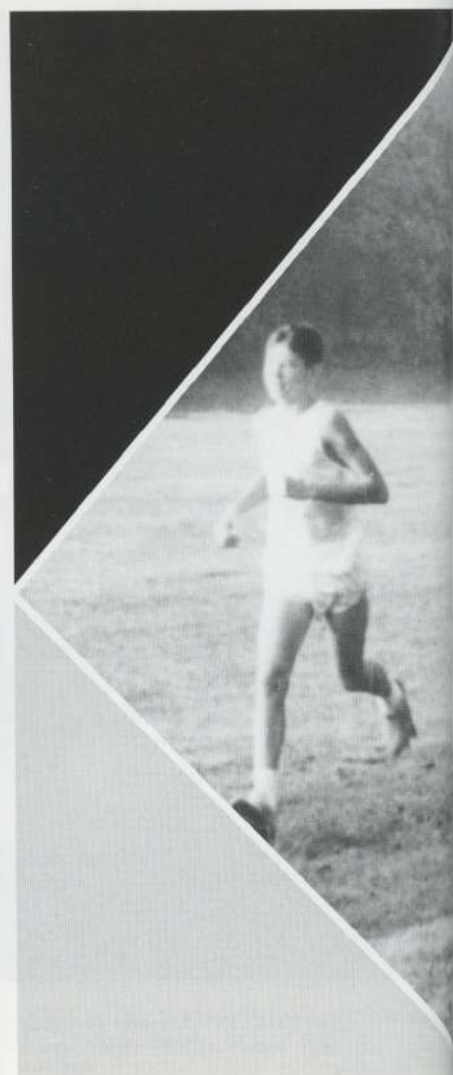

OPPOSITES ATTRACT: Ballerina Seth Hogan and Army kid Matt Hempker dress for the Red Ribbon Week costume contest.

KENDALL EWAN- "I LIKE BEING IN SEVENTH GRADE, BECAUSE I CAN LOOK FORWARD TO EIGHTH GRADE!"

STORYTIME IN THE JUNIOR HIGH: Mr. Bartholomew, Albert Linn, Tim Duke, and Tanya Dawson journey to far places in their intriguing books.

PUCKER UP: Katie Perschbach, who played "Beth," assists Brandon Raney for his role as "Professor Fredrich Bhaer, a friend of Jo's" in the Junior High's school Drama play LITTLE WOMEN behind the stage.

GET OFF OF MY FOOT! Just kidding — Dori Shell seems in pain, but actually, she just uproariously laughs with her friends Stephanie Puska and Michelle Deagan. Oftentimes, students huddle around in groups, and discuss news.

TA DA! Audrey Malone, playing the role of Amy in Little Women, curtseys.

MOVE OVER, PIZZA HUT! Sparkle Hill demonstrates her self control by restraining from eating her ingredients while cooking in her elective, Life Skills, instructed by Mrs. Hall.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS ... Josh Gurly undecidedly examines his choices for food at the concession stand for the Junior High's school play, Little Women. Little Women was performed by the Junior High's drama class.

THE LIMIT IS NOT FAR: Jonathan Fossett pumps it up as he runs his hardest in a competition for track.

Electives Unlimited

PRACTICE MAKES FOR PERFECTION: Liz Parott and Ashley Maxey rehearse a scene from "Little Women."

OUR LOVING NEW FAMILY: The theatre arts class not only puts on a production but many new friendships blossom from this group of students. This makes theatre arts the choice of many new students.

LIVING IN DANGER: This group of girls mingle before the start of their theatre arts class. Many students are allowed to talk in the five minutes given to get to class by their teachers.

FINALLY SOME PEACE AND QUIET: James Murdock works on one of his woodshop projects.

FA LA LA LA LA! The G.J.H.S. choir harmonically performs at the Palace Theatre at their Christmas concert. This is just one of the many yearly events held by the choir classes.

UNLIMITED ANGER: On the opening night for "Little Women," one cast member has to stop another from going into a fury. Don't worry these scenes are practiced many times, and no one gets hurt.

PUTTING IT TOGETHER: Isela Miranda, Roberto Macias, and Shawn Perez try to finish a lawn chair.

TAKE NOTES CLASS: Leland Rayford, Mandy Grimm, and Mrs. Hazleton watch a performance.

Electives play an important part in the G.J.H.S. student body. An elective like band gets students pepped-up at pep-rallies, and teaches members to balance academics and band without any trouble, while still keeping their social life.

ALL TOGETHER NOW: Mrs. Hill instructs the band in a quick warm-up before the pep-rally.

DON'T FORGET: Melisa Simmonson sings to her best ability trying not to forget the words.

BREAKING THE SPEED LIMIT: Robin Swenson gets Audrie Malone ready for a run of this year's play, "Little Women." The theatre arts class does this many times before the actual run of the play. No wonder it's a success every year.

Playing No Limits

With five great band teachers and over 150 band members, a lot gets accomplished here. This year, 2 eighth graders went to District Band on November 19, and nine students went to Region Band on December 10. The teachers that led these students to so many competitions are Lisa Hill, director of Honors Band, Sharon Lee teaching Symphonic Band, Mick Pierce, directing Concert Band, Bryan Wright, instructing percussion, and John Zalman, brass instructor of the Honors Band. Mrs. Hill says of the Honors Band, "I like the students dedication to band. They're a lot of fun to work with."

GET IN GEAR! Band students wait nervously at an eighth grade football game to perform the songs they learned in class. Usually the band plays at the last football game of the season.

HONORS BAND

SMOKE ON THE WATER. Honors Band performs during an eighth grade football game. Playing on the field prepares them for high school, since the eighth graders that take the band elective will be doing the same in ninth grade.

SYMPHONIC BAND

CONCERT BAND

PLAY YOUR HEART OUT! Amy Stephens and other Symphonic Band students concentrate on making good music for Miss Lee and the rest of their supporters.

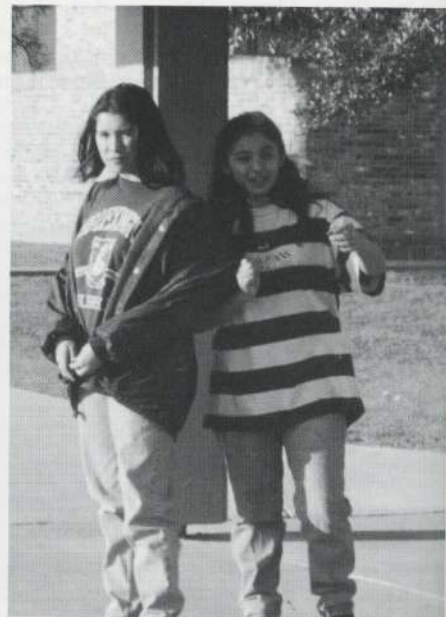

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT! Fourth period Symphonic Band rehearses the music they have learned. Rehearsing helps them prepare for their upcoming events.

ARE YOU SERIOUS?! Sylvette Reynoso tells Julie Schoppa some unexpected news during time after school. Students utilize this time to share secrets and tell friends important things.

WHERE'S MY RIDE? Students Sonya Miranda and Jennifer Dunn wait patiently for their rides home after school. After school is one of the largest periods of socializing of the school day.

HEY GUYS? Jodee Wilson and Casey Edgar move to their next class a little bit differently. Dressed as guys for Halloween, they discuss all the intriguing costumes they have seen that day.

TAKING IT

Grade

WOULD YOU LOOK AT THAT ... Kelly Hanner and Kelicia Wright stare off into space in the morning before school. Mornings at GJHS are always full of sights worthy of gaping at with wonder.

BEST FRIENDS: Allison Bergmann, Natalie Shimek, Christa Davis, Amy Shadden, and Tracy Sizemore socialize in the morning before school. 8:15-8:40 is time for talking, homework, or goofing around.

"The hardest thing about doing nothing is knowing when you're finished." - Lauren Scott

DRESSED TO THE LIMIT ... Teachers Mrs. Jolly, Mrs. Bazar, Ms. Gary, and Mrs. Melendez take full advantage the Halloween festivities. The precursor of Halloween is the "Red Hot Against Drugs" week.

I'M SO BOARD ... Chad Fietz uses his craftsmanship and woodworking skills to shape a piece of wood to his desired figure. Industrial Arts is an elective that is often sought after by eighth-graders.

GET THE PICTURE? Crystal Feusse sorts mug shots for placement in the yearbook. "This is one of the most tedious portions of the entire Yearbook experience," says editor Aleia McCord.

GOSSIP, GOSSIP, GOSSIP: Suzie Hays, Arly Wighaman, and Morgan Handley converse over school, the day's events, and their busy social lives after they have finished eating lunch.

Dance To The Limit

Flashing lights, loud music, spinning mirrored disco ball. What does that remind one of? Dances of course. Georgetown Junior High dances are the highlight of many students' year. To preserve these memories, a photo booth is at each dance. The Student Council sponsored the fall dance, the Harvest Hoe-down. Jr. Historians sponsored the Valentine's Dance on February 10.

Study To The Limit

"When can I finish my homework?" asks 8th grader Michael Pavlovich. The answer may be tutorials. For twenty-five minutes between second and third periods, students participate in tutorials. Students can do homework, read, get help from teachers, or use the writing lab at this time. Last year, tutorials and advisory switched, tutorials in the morning and advisory during school. Sometimes the school meets for assemblies during tutorials.

WE SUPPORT YOU! Jr. Historian members make crafts to hang up on Veteran's Day. GJHS hangs up many streamers, posters, and other red, white, and blue crafts to show how we feel about America.

YELL IT, FOR THE GEORGETOWN EAGLES! Laura Carr, Lindsey Roberts, and Susan St.Clair, three of the Jr. High's cheerleaders give the audience a spirit check as they chant a cheer. The cheerleaders sometimes receive extra help from the "Eaglettes" when they come to a game to support the Eagles.

GO SPEED, GO! The 94-95 drill team, The Eaglettes, perform a routine to the well-known song Speed Racer. The girls showed up at many football games to show their support for the Eagles.

HI, HO! HI, HO! It's on the field we go! Student council sponsor, Mrs. DuCharme, and members prance merrily on the field as they are introduced at the first annual community pep-rally.

Fire-Up!

Eagles

THE 1994-'95 CHEERLEADERS: Top-Pamela Pope, Courtney Bunte, Laura Carr, Lindsey Roberts. Middle-Candace Gholson, Rosemary Mullins, Kathryn Snow. Bottom-Jessie Trofe, and Susan St. Clair.

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y, THAT'S THE EAGLE BATTLE CRY! At a Jr. High football game, a cheer led by the cheerleaders seem short, but it's hours for Candace Gholson, Pamela Pope, and Kathryn Snow.

HOW FUNKY IS YOUR CHICKEN? The GJHS cheerleaders shake their caboose to a cheer. Lindsey Roberts, Susan St. Clair, Rosemary Mullins, and Laura Carr really get into the football spirit.

SHOW THAT SPIRIT!! The cheerleaders know that spirit can always help win the game. So they always try to show it with a big smile a lot of pep and spirit signs.

PUMP IT UP! Courtney Bunte helps pump up the football spirit by boosting up Pamela Pope high in the air. Some people may think that cheerleading looks easy, but they don't know the truth.

Eaglettes

Carrie Hall, Audrey Maxey, Lisa Allgood, Kara Johnson, Rachel Campbell, Jessica Webernick, Amanda Pfile, Adrienne Durham, Angelica Ramos, Robyn Rye, Kristina Kotts, Tiffany Case, Shantil Martin, April Barnett, Tara Bartley, Mandy Cemper, Kendrick Neelon, Katrina Davis, Jennifer Housert, Shelly Brake, Lindsey Wilson, Laura Horton, Lee Ann Griffin, Emily Hello, Toni Arias, Donetta Hale, Sarah Scruggs, Rachel Marshall, Regina Rock, Cathleen Wright, Stephanie Puska, Tonya Stone, Monica Arona, Toni Pitman, Amanda Stevens, Rosie Cordona, Ruby Gonzales, Page Haegler, Michelle Frisan, Jennifer Wilson, Viki Callas, Crystal Feusse, Rachel Loranger, Ashley Koonce, Amy Needham, Melissa Krzywonski, Sarah Neimeyer, Hillary Pool, Liz Colbert, Crystal Brown, Tharyn Smentek, Sarah Umstatdd, and Angie Fuchik.

Drill Team Dancin'

DANCE TO THE MUSIC! A circle of the Eaglette drill team get to the beat of a routine while at one of the junior high football games. They usually perform their dances at halftime.

EVERYBODY DANCE NOW!! The drill team steps out on to the football field to get ready to perform their first routine of the year. They had a dance camp during the summer to learn dances and other drill team techniques.

DANCING THE DAY AWAY! Some of the drill team members have a fun time dancing to the routine "Speed," which some girls said was their favorite one.

Yearbook Takes It Away

Yearbook staff works hard all year long to bring you a well organized yearbook. Any staff needs to cooperate, work hard, and have some fun. First Row: Michelle Belt, Pamela Pope, and Charity Batiste. Second Row: Crystal Feusse, Kendall Ewan, Mindy Robinson, Aleia McCord, and Emily Frank. Third Row: Amber Townsend, Mandy Rothenberg, April Barnett, Toni Arias, Bredt Bredthauer, and Ethan Bennett. Fourth Row: Jesus Gonzalez, Sonya Miranda, Meghan Firth, Dan Garza, and Michael Pavlovich.

WORKING HARD: Toni Arias reads and sorts seventh grade surveys. Picking out the funny ones.

IT'S OVER TIME: Aleia McCord and Ethan Bennett work on yearbook through their lunch break.

OUT OF STEAM: Pamela Pope works on one of her many captions. She has reworked her captions many times.

A . . B . . C: Michael Pavlovich places student mug shots into alphabetical order.

A KNOCK OUT STUDY MOMENT! Rosario Garcia takes a break as she pursues that A + .

ANOTHER GREAT PERFORMANCE BY THE EAGLE CHOIR! Hard work, dedication, and practice are the hallmark for success. Always on key, this group displays their vocal talents at an assembly.

X MARKS THE SPOT! Joey Lavoie smashes the perfect pie in the perfect face. Students were given a challenge and when they met it they shaved a head, a mustache, and got to throw a couple pies around, too.

GO DRILL TEAM! Audrey M., Jennifer W., Cathleen W., Hillary P., and Victoria C. Awesome!

LET'S DO LUNCH GIRLS! Lunch at G.J.H.S. may not be like lunch in Paris where French waiters with accents and exotic menus serve you, But at least it's a nutritious and balanced combination of vitamins and minerals. Not! Oh, well, at least this group has time to enjoy conversation and relax before their afternoon classes begin. Some students also use this time to do their homework.

WHO SAYS YOU CAN'T MAKE A FASHION STATEMENT AT G.J.H.S.? M. Hempker gets into the mood with a very unique combo of color and style. How about the OUTSTANDING HAIR?

Seventh Grade Takes It All The Way

Junior High v.s. Pickett

Why do you like being at the Junior High better than at Pickett?

Austen Ross - "We don't have to walk in lines and we're not treated like 2 year olds. (Even though we act like them sometimes!)"
Lorenzo Dominguez - "You get more privileges and responsibility."
Kristie Williams - "Just when you start to get bored the bell rings."
Ruby Gonzalez - "Pickett was like a prison!"
Derek Anderson - "I like my teachers, which is unusual."
Amanda Nahay - "There are a lot of fine eighth graders!"
Robyn Swenson - "Changing classes all day."

“ What is your favorite quote or saying? ”

Matthew Whitehead - "Go Hard or Go Home."
Dustin McLean - "People have the right to be stupid, but I abuse the privilege!"
Charles Dossett - "I practice to play. I play to win!"
Dina Hernandez - "Never say I can't always say I will!"
Jenifer Wilson - "A little hope gets you a long way!"
Sarah Whatley - "To have friends you must first be a friend!"
Patrick Holland - "Army: Mess with the best and die like the rest."
Jeffrey Apple - "All the world's a stage!"
Angie Fuchik - "Don't sit on a sharp knife!"
Amy Kemper - "If you want to go somewhere and be somebody you better wake up and pay attention!"
Skyler Lewis - "I didn't do it!"

How do you think being in eighth grade will be different than seventh?

Crystal Rash - "I think it'll be harder and more challenging."
Felicia Brown - "I think seventh graders will look up to you."
Alicia Johnson - "Cooler, because we aren't the babies of the school anymore."
Sasha Fairburn - "Cooler than seventh grade, because you have more privileges and will be able to set an example."
Delayne Priest - "Fun, because we will know our way around the school and won't look like dorks asking teachers."

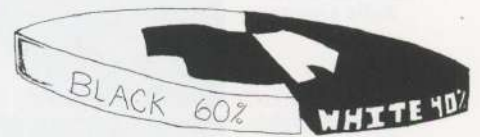

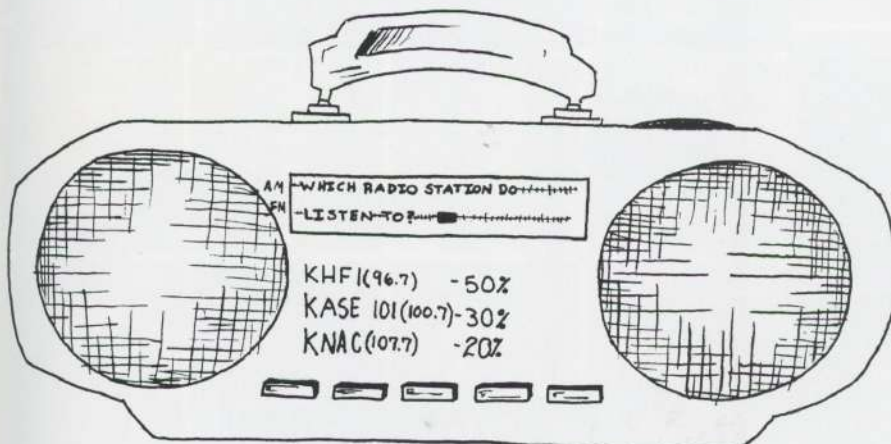

Smile Seventh Grade! What has been your funniest moment?

Ben Durham - "When I got thrown in the trash can by the eighth graders."
Denny Herrin - "The football players and I were at the benches when Allen Weall poked a skunk with a stick, we started running because the skunk sprayed!"
Crystal Merjios - "When Shawna Stewart ran into a pole and fell!"

What is the nastiest or most disgusting type of seafood you have ever eaten?

WORK! WORK! WORK! Shannon Ibarra and Don McGee concentrate hard as they finish up their assigned worksheets. They hurry to turn it in to their teacher.

HEADS UP: Stephanie Foster, Chrystal Castleberry, Bethany Brown, and Nicole Sandifer get ready to rebound the ball. Rebounding in a basketball game is a major part in winning it.

IN THE LEAD: Kendra Signes and Grason Kennedy fight it out to the finish as part of the Georgetown Eagles Cross Country Team. It takes lots of endurance and preparation to be a successful runner.

RUNNING TO THE FINISH LINE: Morgan Handley strides toward the finish line as a Georgetown fan cheers him on. The Georgetown Eagles Cross Country Team always strives to become number one.

EVERYBODY LISTEN UP: A small section of the Eighth Grade White B Team listens very closely to what Coach Daniel Garza and Coach Robert Canfield have to say. Part of the Football Team's responsibilities is doing what the coach tells you, and doing it correctly.

TAKING

TAKING IT TO THE HOOP: Stephen Anderson takes a shot over an unsuspecting Midway player. Speed and accuracy are essential to becoming a good player.

DOWN IN THE ENDZONE: Albert Orona sacks Cole Hall during an end of the year Eagles versus Eagles game. This is a game that people come to watch.

DOWN THE COURT: Ben Jackson dribbles down court to make the play during one of the many boys eighth grade basketball tryouts.

The 8th grade football teams worked very hard this football season. We had two teams that won District Championship, the 8th grade A Blue team and B White team. The football players had to adjust to three new coaches this year. "We had eight excellent teams in Jr. High that gave a 110% and played their hearts out, We couldn't be prouder!" Coach Ashburn!

NOT THIS TIME BUDDY! Shawn Perez blocks a Copperas Cove player for his teammate Jomo Rose, leaving a wide open hole for him. It's usually Jomo blocking for Shawn.

CHILLIN OUT! Some of the 8th grade white A team members relax and talk to each other before warm-ups. The A teams had this extra time while the B teams played.

Running It To The Limit!

Cross Country

This year G.J.H.S.'s Cross Country team placed first in district. They practiced long, hard hours after school to prepare for meets every Saturday. Coach Walters, this years cross country team coach, helped the running Eagles to victory by putting forth much time and dedicated effort. The cross country team handled the 1994 season well even though cross country is a challenging sport.

SPEED LIMIT FAST! Miles Kelly, Dean Goodman, Trey Haskell, Morgan Handley, Hans Bauer, Rusell Hurst, Greg Hammerlun, Jonathan Faucet, Micah Miller, and Nathan Davis take off.

GOING FOR IT ALL: Kendra Saenz makes a run for it as she competes against her opponents at the cross country district meet. The outcome of the race was First Place in the district.

Sports To The Limit

Sports Random

GET IT TO THE HOOP! Cameron Davies, Wyatt Broadway and Morgan Handley try to score as they run.

JUMP FOR IT! Nicole Sandifer gets ready to lunge for the ball during practice as it just got passed by another player on the team.

WHAT GOES DOWN MUST COME UP! Anthony Guajardo looks like he'll go down, but he really comes back up after intercepting the ball in the blue-white game. He escaped this tackle and returned the ball forty yards for a touchdown. The white went on to win 28-0 and became district champ with a 6 and 0 record. On the year the white team's defense allowed 6 points. Their offense ran up 126 points.

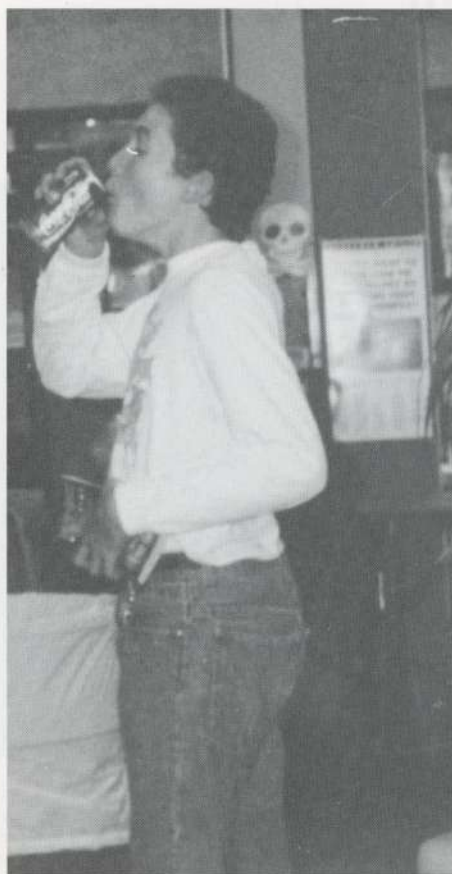

ON YOUR MARK, GET SET, GO! Katie Simms, Meili Peterson, Susan Haynes, Heather Stahl, Virginia Girdeau get ready to take off from the starting line at their cross country meet in the park.

BUMP, SET, SPIKE! Amanda Taylor, number 7, goes down to save the ball, as others observe.

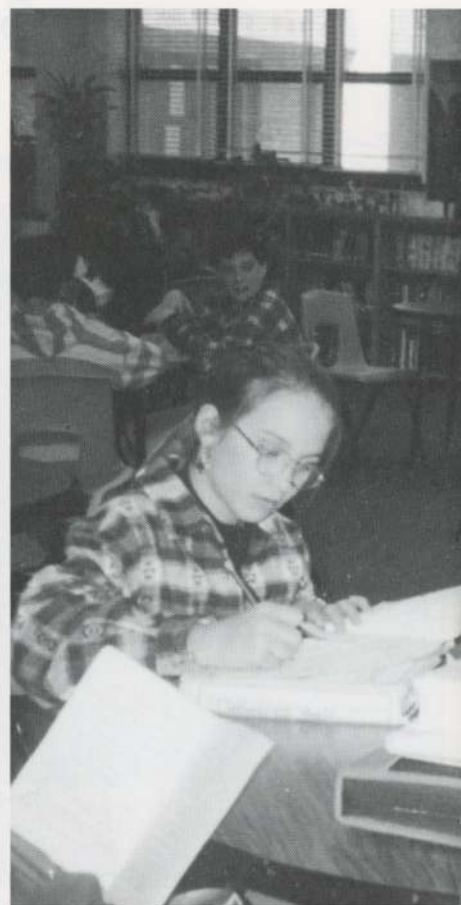

The Limit Is Close

THINK UP A STORM: Jennifer Huggins, Cathi Bensinvenga, Tammy Williams, and Rebecca Bensinvenga assemble together to discuss issues for Junior Historians.

SLURP IT! Chad Harris finishes the last of his Coke before its disposal at the Magazine Sale Party.

"Seventh grade was a new experience by not having recess, but having tutorials, and having in athletics a choice what you wanted to do," said Rachel Pope.

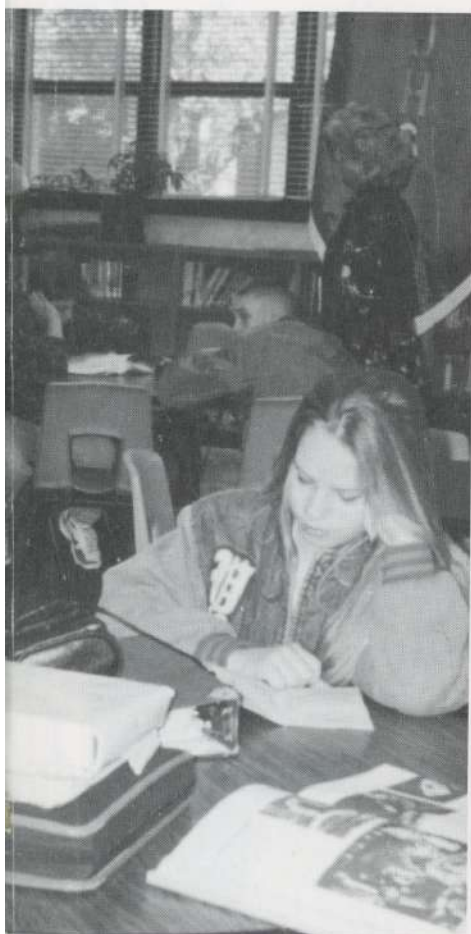

A Watched Pot Never Boils!

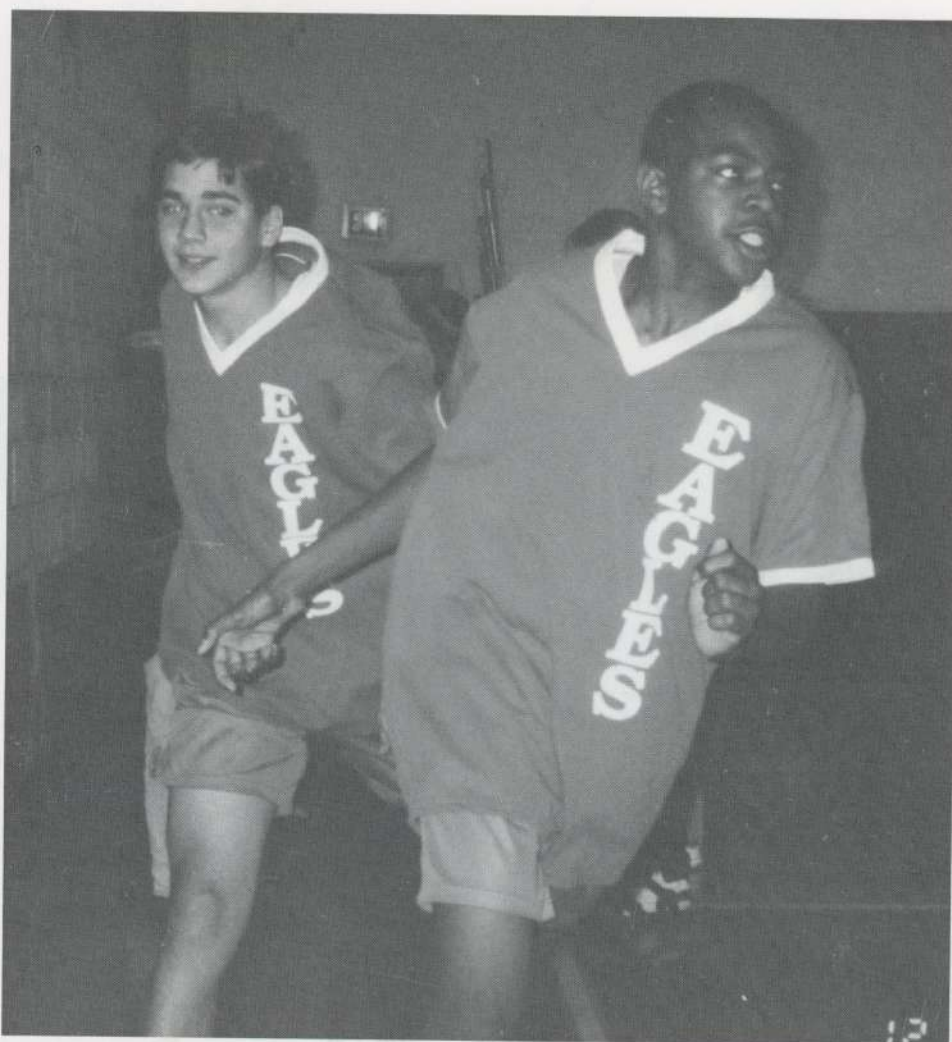

TWO MANY HANDS SPOIL THE BROTH! Well, let's hope not. David Shiller and David Ritter practice their cooking skills in Life Skills, while boiling tomato sauce. This activity allowed the students to see how well they could follow instructions, and learn the do's and don'ts about cooking.

SHHHH! Michelle Freisem and Sarah Estes attentively study and read in the library with their class.

WHY THE HURRY? Tony McKenzie and Russell Zahasky strenuously race around the Junior High School's gym, ready to run to their limit, and keep fit for the upcoming tournaments.

SIDE BY SIDE: Heather Hooker and Naomi Williams, of the Junior High's concert, blow all of their energy into their music.

WHAT WILL THEY THINK OF NEXT? Pamela Pope carefully smears paint onto her face, a requirement for Student Council this year, for one of their presentations.

FINISHED AT LAST: Bredt Bredthuer collapses on his desk as the last piece of the yearbook is completed. There was a lot of hard work put into completing the 1995 Jr. Arie. The yearbook staff had to work hard, be dedicated and had to have much cooperation. "It was a lot of hard and complicated work, but it was worth it," said Michelle Belt. "The yearbook was very challenging. There were a lot of changes this year, and I'm really glad I had Bredt Bredthuer and April Barnett to help me out," said Aleia McCord.
